

This document contains the main terms and conditions of employment which govern your service with the Company. Your service with the Company is also subject to the terms contained in the letter offering you engagement as supplied by the agency ("the Assignment Schedule"). If there should be any ambiguity or discrepancy between the terms in the Assignment Schedule and the terms set out in this document, the terms in the Assignment Schedule will prevail, except where expressly stated to the contrary.

Mr(hereafter referred to as "You")

This Statement sets out the terms and conditions of employment under which(hereafter referred to as "the Company") is employing you.

1 Commencement of Employment

- 1.1 Your employment commenced on the date of your first assignment.
- 1.2 Your employment with any previous employer does not count as part of your period of continuous employment with the Company.

2 Job Title

Your job title will be confirmed on each Assignment Schedule which will be supplied by the agency. Your normal duties will entail you being assigned to various clients of the Company who have requested the Company provide them temporary assistance. There are no specific qualifications or experience required for this work. This does not limit the scope of your employment with the Company which might reasonably require you to perform other duties depending upon the requirements of the assignment.

3 Location

- 3.1 You will not be regarded as having a normal place of work and you will be required to work for clients of the Company at various locations. The exact address of each assignment will be confirmed to you in the relevant Assignment Schedule. The Company may change your place of work by giving you such notice as is reasonably practicable in the circumstances.

4 Hours of Work

- 4.1 Due to the nature of your role there are no set or standard daily or weekly hours of work for you. You are not guaranteed a minimum number of hours of work each week and the Company is not obliged to provide you with any work. Therefore, in a particular week, you may receive no work at all from the Company. The Company will endeavour to give you advance notice of the hours (and days and times) that you will be offered to work in a particular week as detailed in the Assignment Schedule and you should confirm your availability or unavailability to work to the Company as soon as reasonably practicable.
- 4.2 Assigned hours of work will vary according to the requirements of the Company's clients and may involve shorter or longer hours of work, or working on different days of the week or at different times of the day in accordance with operational requirements which will be confirmed to you in the relevant Assignment Schedule. The Company reserves the right to alter working hours as necessary. Due to the nature of our business, you may be required to work occasional evenings, weekends and/or public holidays. It is a condition of your employment that you agree to work different hours if requested to do so by the Company.
- 4.3 You are not obliged to accept the assignment of work offered if you do not wish to do so and the Company has no obligation to offer you work on an ongoing basis or at any time. Where you are offered work, it does not give rise to a presumption that the Company will continue to offer you further work. However, you will not be penalised if, for whatever reason, you do not accept an assignment for work offered on a particular occasion and it will not affect your being offered assignments of work in the future.
- 4.4 You are only entitled to be paid in respect of the hours that you do work. You will not be paid for those hours when you are not carrying out work for the Company.
- 4.5 For the purposes of the Working Time Directive, where your working day includes multiple assignments, your working hours include travel to your first and from your last assignment. However, this does not include an entitlement to pay for that travel time.
- 4.6 By signing this contract, you agree to work hours which exceed the maximum average weekly working time limit of 48 hours imposed by the Working Time Regulations 1998. You may withdraw your agreement on giving to the Company three months' prior written notice.
- 4.7 There may be periods when there is no work available to you. For the avoidance of doubt, this does not mean that you have been dismissed and we will continue to source a suitable assignment for you.

5 Probationary Period

- 5.1 The first three months of your employment will be a probationary period.
- 5.2 During this period, your work performance, conduct and general suitability will be monitored and assessed and, if it is satisfactory, your employment will continue. However, if your work performance and/or conduct is not up to the required standard, or you are considered to be generally unsuitable, we may either take remedial action or terminate your employment without recourse to the capability procedure, or if a conduct matter, the disciplinary procedure.

- 5.3 At the end of your probationary period you will again be assessed and, if satisfactory, you will be confirmed as a member of our regular staff. If you have not reached the required standard we may either extend the probationary period by up to a further three months, in order that remedial action can be taken, or terminate your employment without recourse to the capability or disciplinary procedure. In the event of you failing to improve during the extended probationary period, your employment will be terminated without recourse to the capability or disciplinary procedure.
- 5.4 Please note that, should disciplinary action short of dismissal be necessary during your probationary period, a shortened disciplinary procedure will be invoked.

6 Remuneration

- 6.1 Your rates of pay will at all times be no less than the appropriate National Minimum Wage (NMW) or National Living Wage (NLW) currently in force in the UK per hour worked. Enhanced rates may be applicable depending on the work you are required to perform. The exact amount of your pay for any particular assignment will be set out in the Assignment Schedule including any details of enhanced rates or overtime rates which may be applicable to you.
- 6.2 Payment will be made weekly in arrears directly into your nominated bank account in respect of the hours worked during the preceding week, subject to deductions which the Company may be required by law to make and in particular in respect of tax, National Insurance and any pension provisions.
- 6.3 You agree and acknowledge that the Company may from time to time or on termination of your employment deduct any sums owed to it by you from any sums owed to you by the Company and by signing the copy of this Statement you authorise any such deductions to be made without the need for further consent at the relevant time. You also agree that, in the event of your failure to give notice of termination of your employment, the Company may retain any sums owed by it to you without prejudice to its right to claim damages for any additional loss it may suffer as a result of your failure to give due notice of termination.
- 6.4 The Company undertakes to pay you in respect of work done, whether or not the client has paid the Company in respect of such work.

7 Deductions from Wages

- 7.1 If, either during or on the termination of your employment, you owe the Company money as a result of any loan, overpayment, default on your part or any other reason whatsoever, the Company shall be entitled to deduct the amount of your indebtedness to it from any payment or final payment of wages which it may be due to make to you. Such deductions may include, but are not limited to:
- 7.1.1 An overpayment of, or advancement on, wages, bonus, commission or expenses, whether made by mistake or otherwise.
- 7.1.2 Annual leave taken as at the date of the termination of your employment which is in excess of your accrued entitlement.
- 7.1.3 Any losses, insurance excess payments or insurance premium increases sustained by the Company as a result of the loss of, damage to or unauthorised use of any Company property (including Company cars), or that of any client, customer or supplier, which is caused through your carelessness, negligence, wilful default or dishonesty.
- 7.1.4 Any loans, including season ticket loans.
- 7.1.5 Any fines, charges, penalties or other monies paid or payable by the Company to any third party for any act, omission or offence on your part for which the Company may be held vicariously liable (for example, speeding fines, parking tickets and congestion charges).
- 7.1.6 The market value of any unreturned Company property on the termination of your employment.
- 7.1.7 Where you leave the Company the balance of any training assistance given.
- 7.1.8 The repayment of any contractual or discretionary sick pay where the sickness absence reporting requirements have not been followed or your absence is unauthorised.
- 7.1.9 Payment of wages representing the time period for lateness.
- 7.2 Any amount deducted under this clause is a genuine attempt by the Company to assess its loss and is not intended to act as a penalty.

- 7.3 If the Company accidentally overpays you in respect of wages, bonus, commission or expenses in a particular pay period, you must act in good faith and immediately notify your line manager. Failure to notify the Company in these circumstances may lead to disciplinary action under the Company's disciplinary procedure.
- 7.4 If, on the termination of your employment, your final payment of wages is not sufficient to meet your debt due to the Company, you agree that you will repay the outstanding balance to the Company within one calendar month of the date of termination of your employment, such payment to be made as agreed with the Company.

8 Training, Equipment & Costs:

- 8.1 Training that is mandatory by law must be completed as a condition of this contract. Failure to comply with Management instructions to attend training may result in disciplinary action being taken, including dismissal.
- 8.2 The company reserves the right to request you sign a Training Agreement to repay a proportion of any External Training costs should you terminate your employment within an agreed and reasonable period of time.
- 8.3 Some Equipment may be supplied for you to use whilst working for the company, this would be replaced at your expense if lost or damaged by improper use or neglect.

9 Customer Property

When working at client's premises, damage to client's property should always be avoided. However, it is imperative that a senior member of staff is informed immediately should accidental damage occur, who will then decide on the most appropriate action. Failure to immediately report an incident or accident could result in the employee being held responsible for the cost of rectification or replacement.

10 Holiday Entitlement

- 10.1 The Company's holiday year is from 1st January to 31st December. You will be entitled to 5.6 weeks' (28 days') holiday in each holiday year throughout which you are employed by the Company which includes statutory and other public holidays. This does not include special bank holidays, which may be given at the Company's discretion holiday in each complete calendar year. Your holiday accrual will be calculated based on 12.07% of your actual hours worked.
- 10.2 The Company, through the agency, will operate a system that you must follow for obtaining prior approval for holiday plans. Details of that system and of any changes to it from time to time will be made known to you. The agency will try to co-operate with your holiday plans wherever possible subject to the requirements of the demands of the clients. However, you must not book holidays until your request has been formally authorised in writing by the agency.
- 10.3 You must use all of your holiday entitlement by the last day of each holiday year and, unless there are exceptional circumstances, you may not carry your holiday entitlement forward into the next holiday year. Holiday entitlement not used by the correct date will usually be lost and under no circumstances will payment be made for holiday entitlement that is lost through not being exercised by the correct date.
- 10.4 No more than two weeks' holiday may be taken at any one time without the prior written agreement of the agency. The minimum amount of holiday that may be taken is 0.5 days. 4 weeks' notice must be given by you of the proposed date of commencement of any holiday.
- 10.5 In your first and last year of employment, your holiday entitlement will be that proportion of your annual holiday entitlement equivalent to the proportion of the holiday year in question during which you have been employed (to the nearest half-day and assuming that holiday entitlement accrues at an even rate from day to day).
- 10.6 On termination of your employment, holiday pay will be given for earned and unused days of holiday entitlement in that holiday year only. Unless required by law, on termination, you have no right to be paid for holiday accrued but not taken in previous holiday years. If, on termination, you have taken more holiday than you have earned in that year, the Company shall be entitled as a result of your agreement to the terms of this contract to deduct the value of the unearned holiday from any final payment of salary made to you. In addition, during your notice period (whether notice of termination of employment is given by the Company or by you), the Company may require you to take any outstanding accrued days of holiday entitlement that you may have and the Company will not be obliged to give you any minimum notice to take such holiday during your notice period.
- 10.7 Should you be incapacitated for work during any period of pre-booked holiday (whether in whole or in part) the Company may in its absolute discretion reimburse the period of holiday entitlement lost due to incapacity and instead pay you Statutory Sick Pay ('SSP') for your period of sickness absence, provided you meet the qualifying conditions for SSP, you fully comply with your contractual obligations relating to reporting sickness absence and your absence is properly certified.

- 26.4 You will not use Confidential Information for your own purposes or for any purposes other than those of the Company or client.

12 or more years	12 weeks

Notice to be given to the Company:

Length of continuous service	Minimum period of notice
Less than one month	One day
One month onwards	One week

28.2 The Company will not be obliged to provide you with work at any time after notice of termination shall have been given by either party and the Company may, in its absolute discretion, pay your salary entitlement in lieu of all or any part of the unexpired period of notice (subject to deduction at source of income tax and applicable national insurance contributions). Any such payment will consist solely of basic salary as at the date of termination and, for the avoidance of doubt, the payment in lieu of notice shall not include any element relating to any bonus or commission payments that might otherwise have been due, any payment in respect of benefits which you would have been entitled to receive or any payment in respect of any annual leave entitlement that would have accrued during the period for which the payment in lieu is made. You have no right to receive a payment in lieu of notice instead of working your notice period unless the Company exercises its discretion to pay you in lieu under this clause.

28.3 If you leave without giving the proper period of notice or leave during your notice period without permission, the Company shall be entitled as a result of your agreement to the terms of this contract to deduct a day's pay for each day not worked during the notice period, provided always that the Company will not deduct a sum in excess of the actual loss suffered by it as a result of your leaving without notice and any sum so deducted will be in full and final settlement of the Company's claim for your breach of contract. This deduction may be made from any final payment of salary which the Company may be due to make to you. The amount to be deducted is a genuine attempt by the Company to assess its loss as a result of your leaving without notice. It is not intended to act as a penalty upon termination.

28.4 If it is discovered at any time after you have commenced your employment that your references are not genuine, that you have misrepresented any information about yourself on the application form or at the selection interview, or that you have not disclosed a relevant conviction, your employment will normally be terminated without notice.

28.5 The Company expressly reserves the right to terminate your employment without notice if it has grounds to believe that you have committed any material breach of these terms and conditions or any gross misconduct or act of gross incompetence, any such action under this paragraph being without prejudice to any other of the Company's rights.

29 Return of Company Property

29.1 Upon the termination of your employment under this contract for whatsoever cause, you shall forthwith deliver up to the Company all keys and any swipe cards, credit cards, computer hardware or software, books, documents, account records and any other papers which may be in your possession, custody or control and which are the property of the Company or its clients, which otherwise relate in any way to the business or affairs of the Company and its clients and no copies of the same or any part thereof shall be retained by you. You shall then (if required by the Company) make a declaration that the whole of the provisions of this Clause have been complied with.

29.2 You acknowledge that failure to do so could entitle the Company to withhold payment of any monies payable to you or to deduct an amount equivalent to the cost of such property from such monies.

30 Notices

Any notice to be given under your contract of employment shall be delivered or sent by first class post to the address of the other party set out in this statement (or such address as may have been notified, or to you in person) and any such notice shall be deemed to have been served:

30.1 if delivered – at the time of delivery; or

30.2 if sent by post – upon the expiration of 48 hours after posting.

31 Severability

The various provisions of this Agreement are severable, and if any provision or identifiable part thereof is held to be invalid or unenforceable by any court of competent jurisdiction then such invalidity or unenforceability shall not affect the validity or enforceability of the remaining provisions or identifiable parts.

32 Variation

The Company reserves the right to make reasonable changes to these and any other agreed terms and conditions of employment.

Minor changes of detail may be made from time to time and will be affected by a general notice to employees. You will be given not less than one month's written notice before significant changes are made. Such changes will be deemed to have been accepted unless the Company receives from you an objection in writing before the expiry of the notice period.

33 Applicable Law

- 33.1 Your contract of Employment will be subject to the laws of England and Wales and you agree that any disputes relating to your employment or its termination will be exclusively determined by the Courts or Tribunals of England and Wales.
- 33.2 In particular, your employment is subject to your compliance with and observance of the Employment Agencies Act 1973 (as amended) and associated Regulations (including, but without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing, the Conduct of Employment Agencies and Employment Businesses Regulations 2003), legislation relating to discrimination on the ground of race, sex, sexual orientation, disability, religious or similar beliefs, age and to data protection legislation, as well as the Working Time Regulations 1998 (as amended).

34 The Agreement

I hereby confirm that I have read, understood and accept the above contract of employment. I undertake to observe the terms and conditions of employment contained therein.
